

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States will act alone if necessary to defend Thailand from direct Communist aggression, Secretary of State Dean Rusk announced Tuesday.

Rusk unfolded a new interpretation of U.S. obligations to act individually, as well as collectively in the eight-nation Southeast Asia Treaty Organization.

His statement, issued jointly with Thailand's Foreign Minister Thanat Khoman, went a long way to meet Thailand's fears that it had no real assurances of defense under SEATO unless all eight nations unanimously agreed.

The United States consulted with its other allies in the defense pact—Britain, France, the Philippines, Pakistan, Australia and New Zealand—before making the new pronouncement.

$100,000 Bribe In Stock Fraud

NEW YORK (AP)—The government charged at a federal court trial Tuesday that $100,000 was paid to the late Sen. George Bender, R-Ohio, to try to kill an investigation into a stock fraud conspiracy.

The allegation came from Asst. U.S. Atty. Gerald Walpin as he opened the government's case against 12 persons and four firms accused of fraud conspiracy involving the United Dye and Chemical Corp., now known as Chemoil Industries, Inc. Bender at the time was said to have been assistant secretary of the Interior.

The defense immediately demanded a mistrial, on grounds that Bender had been subjected posthumously to "false and inflammatory reflections."

Report Successes In S. Viet Nam

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP)—Adm Harry D. Felt said Tuesday U.S.-armed South Viet Nam troops are on the offensive against Communist jungle fighters who have been attacking in rising force in recent weeks.

Felt, commander of U.S. forces in the Pacific, here for a two-day tour of military installations, made his remarks after South Vietnamese forces reported two major victories in the past two days.

U.S.-supplied aircraft and U.S. Army helicopter teams played key roles in the military successes, he believed to be the biggest of the year after three major setbacks for President Ngo Dinh Diem's forces.

FAA Orders New Takeoff Pattern

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Aviation Agency imposed new regulations Tuesday on the takeoff procedure for Boeing jet airliners.

The FAA said the ruling was prompted by flight tests conducted in an effort to determine what caused the crash of a Boeing 707 in New York last Thursday. Ninety-five persons were killed when the American Airlines jet crashed into Jamaica Bay.

But an FAA spokesman said the ruling, which ordered pilots of Boeing jets to use a special pattern in operating wing flaps on takeoff, was not designed to point a finger at the cause of the New York crash. He said that has not yet been determined.

Seek To Revise Pa. Constitution

PITTSBURGH (AP)—The Pittsburgh Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Allegheny County Council of the League of Women Voters announced Tuesday they will campaign throughout the state for revision of the Pennsylvania Constitution.

"The major need now," the Jaycees said, "is to inform our citizens of why reform is necessary and to enable them to realize how the inadequacies and defects of the Constitution, which was last revised in 1873, affects us every day as individuals."

A joint committee will distribute campaign literature and establish a speaking bureau to furnish speakers for various organizations.

Sues R. C. Church For $2,375,000

MINEOLA, N.Y. (AP)—The attractive blonde mother of four young daughters sued the Roman Catholic Church Tuesday for $2,375,000 damages. She contends the church broke up her marriage to a former priest and is keeping them apart.

The suit was filed in State Supreme Court in Mineola by Mrs. Alice Ryan, 41, of Glen Head. She identified her husband as Walter A. Ryan, 57, former assistant pastor of the Glen Cove Catholic Church and a native of Somerville, Mass.

Defendants include, in addition to the church, Francis Cardinal Spellman, the archbishop of New York, and the dioceses of Brooklyn, Rockville Centre, Springfield, Mass., San Francisco and Los Angeles.

A spokesman for the New York diocese declined comment.

Powers Testifies; Comes Out With Flying Colors

WASHINGTON (AP)—U2 pilot Francis Gary Powers came through with high-flying colors Tuesday as he told a Senate committee how a mysterious explosion brought his reconnaissance plane down in the heart of Russia.

Even before the 32-year-old center of a great international furor took the witness chair to testify, an official report vindicated him as a man who lived up to his obligations as an American—a man who:

POWERS WITH PLANE MODEL — Pilot Francis Gary Powers holds a model of the U2 plane as he appears before the Senate Armed Services Committee in Washington. It was from a plane of this type that Powers parachuted into Russia in May, 1960.

—Strove in vain to blow up his stricken craft to prevent it from falling into the hands of his captors when he was forced down in a wild spin 1,200 miles inside Russia's heartland May 1, 1960.

—Refused to give the Russians, during endless hours of interrogation, certain information, such as the names of other U2 pilots.

—Only followed instructions of his Central Intelligence Agency superiors in telling the Russians he worked for the CIA, and in confessing at the showpiece trial in Moscow that he had been guilty of grievous spying, for which he said he was truly sorry.

In his soft Virginia accent, the wavy-haired pilot told the Senate Armed Services Committee his confession was made after implied threats of a death sentence.

Reason For Statement

In explanation of his expression of sorrow at the trial, he said, "I made this statement on the advice of my (Soviet) defense counsel, and also because it was easy to say I was sorry, because what I meant by saying that, and what I wanted them to think I meant, was quite different. My main sorrow was that the mission failed."

The upshot of the CIA report was that Powers, who spent 21 months in a Russian prison before he was exchanged for a Soviet spy on Feb. 10, will receive about $50,000 in back pay under his contract with the CIA. He was employed at $30,000 a year.

No Light On Cause

Although Powers was unable to shed any light on what knocked his plane out of the Soviet skies, Rep. Carl Vinson, D-Ga., chairman of the House Armed Services Committee, told reporters that CIA experts believed it was a surface-to-air missile.

Applause broke out in the jammed hearing room as Powers, telling his story publicly for the first time in this country, said: "One thing I always remembered while I was there—that I am an American."

Senators hastened to add their words of commendation to the CIA report that cleared the pilot of any shortcomings.

For example, Sen. Leverett Saltonstall, R-Mass., said heartily: "I commend you as a courageous, fine, young American citizen who lived up to your instructions and who did the best you could under very difficult circumstances."

JFK Urges Khrushchev To Work For Geneva Success

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy urged Premier Khrushchev Tuesday to put aside "sterile exchanges of propaganda" and work for success of the disarmament negotiations beginning in Geneva next week.

Kennedy made his appeal in a letter delivered in Moscow by Ambassador Llewellyn Thompson. The letter welcomed Khrushchev's decision to send Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko to Geneva to meet with Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other foreign ministers on disarmament problems.

"Every Possible Effort"

"It will be the purpose of the representatives of the United States, headed by Secretary Rusk, to make every possible effort to find paths toward disarmament," Kennedy wrote Khrushchev.

His unusually brief message to the Soviet leader was made public here a few hours after Khrushchev released a letter he had sent Kennedy last weekend reluctantly agreeing to have foreign ministers open the disarmament talks instead of beginning with a summit conference.

Khrushchev denounced Kennedy's decision to resume nuclear weapons testing in the atmosphere in late April unless Russia and the Western powers can sign a treaty banning nuclear tests with inspection.

'Atomic Blackmail'

Khrushchev told Kennedy that the U.S. President was using atomic blackmail in announcing that the new U.S. test series would be held unless Russia signed a test-ban treaty.

"It doesn't matter how hard you try to justify this decision," Khrushchev said in his message. "There can't be two different opinions about the fact that it is a new expression of the aggressive course in international affairs, a blow against the 18-nation committee which is just about to open a blow against the forthcoming disarmament talks."

The Geneva negotiations will be conducted by nations that compose an 18-member U.N. committee. But the prospect is that it will actually be a 17-nation conference, since Paris has indicated no French delegation will attend.

Khrushchev declared that, if the United States and its Allies go ahead with detonations of new weapons devices, "the Soviet Union would face the necessity of holding such tests of its new weapons which, under those conditions, might be required for its security and to preserve the general peace."

Kennedy's Reply

Kennedy's reply, in effect, gave a soft answer to Khrushchev's verbal assault.

"Our object now," he said, "must be to make real progress toward disarmament, and not to engage in sterile exchanges of propaganda. In that spirit, I shall not undertake at this time to comment on the many sentiments in your letter with which, as I am sure you know, the United States government cannot agree. Let us, instead, join in giving our close personal support and direction to the work of our representatives, and let us join in working for their success."

In a more friendly letter to Macmillan giving up the campaign for a summit, Khrushchev said, "Let us say, as sailors say, 'Good sailing.'"

Turnabout On Disarmament A Vast Change For Khrush

MOSCOW (AP)—The spray of diplomatic sparks covering Premier Khrushchev's withdrawal of his demand for a summit conference at Geneva may have been meant as much for the eyes of his party associates as for President Kennedy, informed quarters said Tuesday.

Khrushchev's acceptance of the proposals of Kennedy and British Prime Minister Harold Macmillan that the big three foreign ministers meet to discuss nuclear test bans and that foreign ministers head up the disarmament talks was a big change from 1960.

Different Than 1960

In 1960, Khrushchev overrode the objections of many national leaders to a summit meeting at the U.N. General Assembly and forced many of them, including President Dwight D. Eisenhower, to appear.

Khrushchev's backtracking this time was against the background of a Communist party Central Committee meeting in the Kremlin to put new starch in the Soviet agricultural fabric.

Khrushchev conceded food shortages in the Soviet Union at Monday's committee meeting, a chronic problem plaguing the premier's plans to overhaul the United States as an economic power.

Hits At N-Tests

In his reply to Kennedy, Khrushchev used an argument popular with Communists. He blamed the U.S. decision to resume atmospheric nuclear tests on munitions monopolists seeking to profit from nuclear weapons.

Khrushchev said Kennedy's plan to resume the tests unless Russia agreed to an inspection system and a test-ban treaty was atomic blackmail that wouldn't work. He said it would bring on a new round of tests, "a kind of chain reaction—and this is what you call in your message sensible policy."

After indicating that new U.S. tests would virtually torpedo the disarmament conference, Khrushchev agreed that foreign ministers instead of chiefs of state should open the negotiations. He concluded with the somewhat contradictory words: "Let's wish them luck."

In a more friendly letter to Macmillan giving up the campaign for a summit, Khrushchev said, "Let us say, as sailors say, 'Good sailing.'"

Lenten Meditation

By Rev. William F. Wunder
Grace Lutheran Church

"It is He that sitteth upon the circle of the earth . . ."

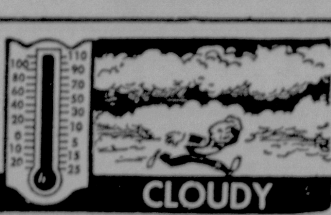

THE PROPHET pictured God as sitting upon the circle of the world. Very frequently we draw circles much smaller in scope than the circle of all humanity. Some of us draw circles that include only ourselves. Others of us draw orbits just big enough to include those whom we should like to include. Still others among us draw circles only large enough to include all those who believe as we do.

But there is still another way in which we may draw circles. We may draw them wide enough to include the whole earth. If Christianity is to be a vital force in our lives we must do just that. Since our God is the kind of God who sits upon the circle of the earth, our religion must be a world-wide religion, ecumenical in its scope. We do less than God expects if our circles of love are so small as not to include within their fellowship all people everywhere—the size of the world upon which God sits.

The triple-orbit astronaut, Lt. Col. John Glenn Jr., speaking recently before a joint session of Congress said: "As our knowledge of the universe in which we live increases, may God grant us the wisdom and guidance to use it wisely." Jesus amplifies the spaceman's humble prayer in His Great Commission in Matthew 28:19,20. May there be a widening of our circles through our prayers, our attitudes, and our actions until all our circles become as one—the whole world. During these forty sacred days of Lent may our love extend to the limits of the world for Christ's sake.

Storm Spreads Multi-Million Dollar Damage On East Coast

Heavy Snow, Sleet Covers Most Of State

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Winter's worst storm belted Pennsylvania Tuesday with heavy snow, sleet, freezing rain and gale-force winds.

The smashing impact of nature's wintry forces—the snowfall ranged from over 19 inches in the west to less than an inch in some eastern sections—forced the closing of hundreds of schools, and the early afternoon shutdown of plants and businesses.

Damage By Winds

Power shortages occurred in many areas where winds tore down lines. Telephone service, too, was out in some sections but no serious trouble was reported.

Road travel was hazardous when the snow leed up as temperatures dropped below the 32-degree freezing mark.

Climbing crews worked continuously on main highways to keep the most heavily-traveled arteries open. Even so, police warned motorists to stay home if their vehicles weren't equipped with chains or snow tires.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike was snow-covered over its entire length, and the speed limit reduced from the normal 60 to 35 m.p.h.

Schools Close

All schools in Pittsburgh closed Tuesday. In Philadelphia, public and parochial schools sent students home at noon as the storm's ferocity increased.

This winter was one of the mildest in years. And, until late Monday, Pennsylvanians were looking forward to spring with little expectation of another assault from the weather.

The Keystone State was struck by two lows—one that crept in from West Virginia, the other moving northward from Virginia. The combination produced a vast belt of precipitation that dumped its heaviest load in western sections. Pittsburgh and surrounding areas took the brunt of the storm late Monday and early Tuesday. By noon Tuesday it had stopped with the snow on the ground measuring 14 inches.

The winds whipped viciously in eastern Pennsylvania, and the weatherman at Philadelphia's International Airport—which remained open despite the storm—estimated gusts as high as 47 miles an hour.

The buffeting winds toppled trees, broke windows in homes and plants, tore down snow-laden power lines.

Heavy Snow

The biggest officially reported snow depth was at Emporium in Cameron County where 19 inches fell. Blairsville 9, Phillipsburg 10, Altoona 9, Brookville 8, Philadelphia 5, Allentown and Williamsport 3, Harrisburg and Bradford 2. The Wilkes-Barre-Scranton area had less than an inch.

State police at Bedford said some areas had 20 inches.

Hope Seen For Peace In Algeria

EVIAN, France (AP)—Algerian rebel negotiators expressed confidence Tuesday that, despite continuing terrorist violence, final peace talks with the French would end the nationalist rebellion and open the way for Algeria's independence.

Deputy Premier Belkacem Krim predicted "a lasting, satisfactory and happy solution" on arriving in nearby Geneva for a final phase conference opening here Wednesday. He said the nationalists come with the will to conclude, if possible, the negotiations.

Krim heads the delegation dispatched by the Algerian rebel regime from its headquarters in exile in Tunis. The French team is led by Louis Joxe, minister for Algerian affairs.

Both sides have agreed to general provisions of an agreement calling for a cease-fire in the 7½-year-old Algerian nationalist rebellion and an eventual referendum in which the 10-million people of Algeria will decide their own future.

The expected decision for independence, bitterly opposed by European settlers making up only 10 per cent of the population, would end French rule established 131 years ago.

GOP Leaders Officially Pick Scranton, VanZandt

HARRISBURG (AP)—Republican county leaders Tuesday endorsed William W. Scranton for governor and James E. Van Zandt for the U.S. Senate. The congressmen immediately pledged a hard-hitting campaign.

Scranton, 44, of Dalton, Lackawanna County, said he would resign his Congressional seat to devote full time to his gubernatorial campaign. Van Zandt, 63, of Allentown, plans to retain his seat in Congress while he campaigns.

The statewide snowstorm cut into the attendance. Still, a substantial majority of the county leaders and GOP state committee officers were on hand.

One Note Of Discord

Except for one note of discord, they quickly ratified the decision of party leaders last week to slate Scranton and Van Zandt.

The criticism was sounded by William C. Campbell, Mercer County chairman.

Campbell spoke of "political shebangs" that led to last week's action by party leaders. He also complained that the county chairmen and vice chairmen at Tuesday's meeting did not even know where the candidates stand.

Campbell said J. Collins McSparran, master of the State Grange, was the candidate with the most experience among those available. McSparran, of Drumore, Lancaster County, filed with the state elections bureau last week to seek the GOP nomination for governor at the May 15 primary.

Committee Set Up

After endorsing Scranton and Van Zandt the group set up a 14-member committee to choose candidates for lieutenant governor and secretary of internal affairs.

The committee, including Scranton, Van Zandt, GOP State Chairman George I. Bloom, party officers and seven county chairmen, planned to go to work almost immediately.

Various GOP leaders interviewed before and after the meeting indicated the choices for these two spots were wide open. The deadline for filing for the offices is next Monday at 5 p.m.

State Sen. M. Harvey Taylor of Harrisburg read a telegram from Superior Court Judge Robert E. Woodside expressing his support for Scranton and Van Zandt.

Woodside was the front-running candidate for the gubernatorial nomination until forces headed by U.S. Sen. Hugh Scott of Philadelphia, State Finance Chairman Philip T. Sharples and the Republican Alliance, an independent Philadelphia group, stepped in to block him.

Scott announced himself as a candidate for the nomination as part of the anti-Woodside group's maneuvering.

Both Woodside and Scott stepped out of the race last week in favor of Scranton. Van Zandt had been Woodside's running mate.

The speeches were designed to heal the wounds of the past month. The Scranton-Van Zandt ticket was developed, Bloom said, as an expression of sentiment from county leaders in all parts of the state.

This was his answer to Campbell that a group of nine party leaders who held two meetings last week at the Chester home of former State Sen. John J. McClure wrote the ticket.

Van Zandt, accepting the organization endorsement, noted the differences of the past weeks, but pleaded: "Let us take a page out of the Democrats' book. They have the ability to patch up their differences, to work together for victory."

Both he and Scranton expressed a desire to begin campaigning immediately.

Lawrence Terms Scranton An Inexperienced Candidate

HARRISBURG (AP)—Gov. Lawrence Tuesday termed the Republican organization backed candidate for governor the least experienced prospect for the post in either party.

The governor issued an emphatic "No" at his weekly news conference when asked if he considers GOP candidate William W. Scranton a tough one for Democrats to face this fall.

"Basically," said Lawrence, "Scranton knows less about state government than any of the candidates mentioned."

No Experience

"The Republican nominee-designate, or whatever you call him, has no experience," he added. He indicated that his comments applied to gubernatorial experience.

Lawrence made his statements at a news conference held shortly before Republican organization leaders actually met to ratify Scranton as the man they will back in the May 15 Republican primary.

The Democratic organization-backed candidate for governor, former mayor Richardson Dilworth of Philadelphia, declined to comment on Scranton at a meeting in Harrisburg with Democratic State Chairman Otis B. Morse.

Dilworth's only statement on Scranton was "I barely know the man."

Lawrence said he feels the fall rivalry "will be a very interesting campaign."

Strike A Factor

A strike in the steel industry this fall would be a factor in the political campaign, said Lawrence. But he did not indicate what effect it would have on the respective parties.

Report Castro Has Soviet General As Military Advisor

WASHINGTON (AP)—State Department officials reported Tuesday that Cuban Prime Minister Fidel Castro has a new military adviser—a man who commanded a Republican army corps during the Spanish Revolution and was a Soviet general in World War II.

They identified him as Enrique Lister, who is well known in the international Communist movement. He reportedly is in charge of all military equipment reaching Cuba from Communist nations and is sitting in on meetings of Castro's top strategy command.

The officials said Ernesto Guevara, Cuba's economics chief, publicly welcomed Lister to Havana June 2, 1961.

Reports that Lister might be in charge of Cuba's rocket artillery—a term suggesting missiles—were discounted. Cuba has some battlefield-type rocket launchers but no known missiles.

Lister was born in Spain of a British father and Spanish mother. When the revolution began he took charge of the Republican 5th Regiment. It was made up of Communist activists and later became the 5th Army Corps.

After forces of Gen. Franco overthrew the government, Lister is reported to have fled to the Soviet Union, one of many Spanish exiles who lived and worked there. In World War II, he reportedly served as a member of the Soviet military under the name Gen. Lisysin.

He turned up in Paris after the war as a member of the Soviet military mission. Later he resumed his real identity and resided in Toulouse near the Spanish border where he could work with exiled Spanish Communists. He was eventually expelled from France.

Published articles have stated Lister was in Bogota, Colombia April 9, 1948 when violent rioting broke out at a conference of Western hemisphere foreign ministers. Fidel Castro was reported there at that time also.

Winds Of Hurricane Force Lash Resorts

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

A savage gale, with pounding tides, towering seas and heavy snows, struck along the Atlantic seaboard Tuesday. By far the area's worst storm of a waning winter, it spread a multimillion-dollar path of damage and destruction from Virginia to New England.

Snow fell as far south as Alabama. Farther north, up to 23 inches paralyzed whole areas.

Six Die

The storm claimed at least six lives, through drownings, electrocutions from fallen wires and highway accidents caused by snow and ice.

Winds hit hurricane force in gusts up to 75 m.p.h. Waves 20 feet high isolated coastal areas, forcing thousands to flee flood waters. Power failures darkened more than 75,000 homes along the coast.

Gilbert Praybald, marooned with 35 families in a Delaware Bay beach settlement, reported by telephone: "All you can see is water. It looks like the Mississippi River. The wind is pushing the tide along. In fact, it is coming in my front door."

Resorts Hit Hard

Atlantic City and Ocean City, two of New Jersey's famed shore resorts, were completely cut off from the mainland, and part of Atlantic City's famed Steel Pier was torn away by the sea. Fire Island, summer mecca off the South Shore of Long Island, lay at the mercy of raging 20-foot waves that cut completely across the low sand spit.

Business and industry came to a standstill in some areas.

At Harrisonburg, Va., employers broadcast warnings to employees to remain home.

All schools in Pittsburgh were closed. At Trenton, N.J., state employees quit work in midafternoon because of the storm.

Four-Foot Snow Drifts

Jack-knifed trailer trucks blocked highways in Virginia, where snow drifted four feet deep beneath the fury of the howling wind. U.S. No. 1, main north-south coastal route, was among highways closed.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike reduced its speed limit and barred vehicles lacking chains or snow tires. Speed limits also were cut on the New Jersey Turnpike.

New York City escaped with slush and high winds.

The 40-foot yacht Guinevere out of New York, was reported sinking off the South Carolina coast with three persons aboard.

Off the Jersey Coast, a destroyer in tow with no one aboard broke loose and ran aground.

Crews Stay On Towers

Crews of two Texas Towers, totaling 132 men, rode out the storm off Provincetown, and Nantucket, Mass. The Air Force said the towers, part of the nation's offshore radar warning system, appeared in no danger. In a 1961 storm, 28 persons died in the collapse of a similar tower off the New Jersey coast.

Power failures due to downed overhead wires darkened 22,400 homes in New Jersey; 1,300 in Long Island; 17,000 in Fredericksburg, Va.; 5,000 in Richmond, Va.; and 30,000 in suburbs of Washington.

Residents Evacuated

Residents by the thousands were evacuated from flood-menaced coastal areas in Avon and Sea Isle City, N.J.—the Rockaway Beaches of New York City; and Norwalk, Fairfield and Old Greenwich, Conn.

New Forest Fire Tool In District

IN A continuing effort to improve the efficiency and effectiveness of the forest fire control organization of the Department of Forests & Waters in the Pocono Mountain area, a new piece of fire fighting equipment has been assigned to the Stroudsburg District Office.

Recently District Forester E.F. McNamara, received a new T-340 Tractor equipped with an Anderson Fire Plow Unit.

This is a highly mobile piece of equipment and can be used very effectively in many sections of the Delaware State Forest District.

The Delaware State Forest District which includes Northampton, Monroe and Pike Counties includes 637,618 acres of forest land. This forested acreage is without doubt the most intensively used forested area in the entire State of Pennsylvania.

The organization which has the responsibility for protecting our valuable Pocono Mountain forested lands from the ravages of fire is almost entirely a volunteer organization.

The Forest Fire Warden and his crew are volunteers as are the members of the various Township Fire Companies. These men are all aware of the important job they have volunteered to do.

This new equipment can be used to help this coordinated team of volunteers to do a better job.

Complaint Filed On Contract

A COMPLAINT filed in Northampton County Court Monday asks that Ellen J. Jennings, 62 N. Fifth St., Bangor, be compelled to go through with an alleged contract for the sale of an Upper Mt. Bethel Township property.

Harry Ribitzki, Wyckoff, N. J., contends that Mrs. Jennings entered into the agreement in October, 1960, individually and as executrix of the estate of her husband, Elmer C. Jennings, who died in 1922.

Ribitzki claims she showed him a property of some 45 acres and said she wasn't sure where the boundary lines were, but agreed to sell him all the property formerly owned by her husband for $3,200.

Ribitzki asks the court to order Mrs. Jennings not to lien the property and to direct her to pay damages and costs occasioned by her alleged refusal to go through with the deal.

Hatter Presented District Deputy Grand Master

MORE than one thousand masons attended a special communication of the Grand Lodge of Pennsylvania, Masonic Temple, Philadelphia recently, at which Theodore M. Hatter, a Past Master of Bangor Lodge, No. 565, was installed as District Deputy Grand Master of the 50th Masonic District.

He succeeds Paul T. Shive, of Whitfield Lodge, No. 622, Nazareth, who held the office for thirteen years. Shive now holds the rank of Past District Deputy Grand Master and a life listing on the Grand Lodge rolls as such.

Hatter, originally from Donaldson, Pa., was at one time a member of the Pennsylvania State Police. Since 1943 he has been associated with Spear's of Bangor. He and his wife, the former Elva M. Strauss, reside at 826 Pennsylvania Avenue.

His advancement to Grand Lodge Rank is considered to be a singular honor in Masonry. It is the first time in the more than seventy-five years since the Bangor lodge was constituted that a District Deputy has been appointed from its membership.

The new District Deputy's masonic affiliations are: Past Master and Trustee of Bangor Lodge, No. 565, F. & A. M.; 32nd Degree Mason, Lehigh Consistory, A.A.S.R., Allentown; Senior Warden of Hugh dePayens Commandery, No. 19, Knights Templar, Easton; Past Thrice Illustrious Master of Pomp Council, No. 20, Royal & Select Masons, Easton; Past High Priest and Trustee of Bangor Royal Arch Chapter, No. 274; First Vice-President of the Lehigh Valley Joshua Association; Past President of the 50th Masonic District School of Instruction; and a member of Easton Forest, No. 35, Tall Cedars of Lebanon.

Inquire, Regulate

Hatter's commission from Pennsylvania's Right Worshipful Grand Master, W. Leroy McKinley, empowers him to inquire into and regulate every activity of the Lodges in the 50th Masonic District. In substance, his presence in any of these Lodges denotes the presence of the Grand Master himself. The tenure of service (normally ten years) means that only a few of the nearly 300,000 masons in the state are ever thus elevated during a Grand Master's term of office. The history of the office, as constituted in Pennsylvania, includes biographies of many men who later became active in public affairs — among them, James Buchanan, the 15th President of the United States.

Chartered buses and private passenger automobiles provided transportation for the many masons from the 50th District who witnessed Hatter's formal presentation. Preceding the Grand Lodge Communication, the group was conducted on a guided tour of the Masonic Temple which LIFE magazine has termed one of the nation's finest Masonic buildings.

It has been said that Pennsylvania's Temple from pavement to turret, and all through its numerous halls, speaks in the language of architecture. The library and museum contain the papers of many masons prominent in American History, as well as priceless items of Masonic antiquity. The tour taken by the local group is also open to the general public weekdays and on Saturday from 10 o'clock to 12 noon.

Hatter's jurisdiction includes Portland Lodge, No. 311, the oldest in the district (constituted in 1857); Bangor Lodge, No. 325, Stroudsburg; Manquey Lodge, No. 413, Bath; Bangor Lodge, No. 565; Pen Argyl Lodge, No. 594; Whitfield Lodge, No. 622, Nazareth; J. Simpson Africa Lodge, No. 628; East Stroudsburg, and Pocono Lodge, No. 780, constituted in 1956, and masons resident in the areas served by these Lodges. This places about 2,500 masons under his three State Belt Lodges is about 750.

Special Program

As is traditional for Grand Lodge Officers, it is expected that Hatter's first official visitation will be to his home lodge, Bangor, No. 565, on March 14. A special program has been planned for that evening, and all area masons are invited to attend.

Pocono Area Escapes Big Storm Belt

THE POCONO Mountains area, which has been escaping as the worst onslaughts all season long, was blessed again yesterday as the worst storm of winter raked the Eastern shores.

Actually, the Poconos were spared two storms during the past 24-hour period.

In addition to worst eastern storm that walloped the region from Alabama to New England states causing millions of dollars in damage, costing about six lives and wrecking part of the Steel Pier at Atlantic City, a follow-up storm had been forecast. The latter storm never developed after it had been expected to hit at noon yesterday.

Even though the wrath of the storm skipped the Pocono Mountains, it did leave heavy snow, freezing rain and gale-force winds in other sections of western Pennsylvania.

Only bone-chilling winds—that reached up to 5 miles per hour at times—presented any indication that a storm had been brewing. The heavy winds, combined with the high temperatures, erased most of the light snow that had fallen during the day.

Mnay Schools Closed

Elsewhere, the smashing impact of nature's wintry forces—the snowfall ranged from over 19 inches in the west to less than an inch in some eastern sections—forced the closing of hundreds of schools. It also forced the early afternoon shutdown of plants and businesses where the storm hit the hardest.

Even as the Poconos were spared the worst storm to the East coast this winter, it seemed less likely that they would escape a new storm that was heading eastward.

A possible accumulation of up to six inches of snow was forecast. But as of late last night, none developed.

Unangst Endorses Heller

PARKE W. Unangst, Monroe County Republican party chairman last night endorsed Clifford Heller of Stroudsburg as a candidate for a seat in the state House of Representatives.

In announcing his support of Heller, the county chairman said government is a business and that "Mr. Heller has been a successful businessman." Heller has been in business all of his life time.

Unangst further pointed out that Heller's four years as state committeeman of Monroe County has given him (Heller) "an insight with politics as well as making many acquaintances at the state capitol with Republican leaders and assemblymen."

Back Scranton — Van Zandt
The announcement by Unangst capped a day of political work. Heller and Unangst yesterday attended the Republican State Committee meeting held at the Penn Harris Hotel, Harrisburg.

Today Is First Day Of Lent

TODAY is Ash Wednesday — the first day of Lent.

Lent which includes the 40 days preceding the Easter holiday (except Sundays) is set aside by the church for penitence, fasting and special devotional exercises.

In observance of this holiday season, many churches throughout the county will hold regular and special ceremonies marking the occasion.

Easter, the chief festival of the Christian year, will arrive Sunday, April 22. It commemorates the Resurrection of Christ. The word is derived from an Anglo Saxon term meaning Spring season. Next year Lent begins Feb. 27 and Easter is on April 14.

Because it occurs each year at the time when the Christian Church celebrates the passion and death of the Lord, it is especially appropriate that Lent be observed in terms of self-denial and intensified devotions. With the penitential season, the accustomed ecclesiastical color is purple.

Holy Week
The last seven days of Lent constitute Holy Week, beginning with Palm Sunday on April 15. The Passion Week precedes Holy Week.

The last Thursday of Lent — Maundy Thursday — which commemorates the institution of the Eucharist, falls on April 19 with Good Friday on April 20.

Traditionally, the older churches have given more attention to Lent than the younger ones. But of recent dates, the various denominations in America have begun to use the period as a time of special spiritual disciplines designed to strengthen the religious life. This is especially evident from the period of the late 30s to the present time when the world has been engulfed in conflict after conflict.

Children To Attend
Many school children in the county, providing parental permission is obtained, will attend church today.

The Methodist Church of Stroudsburg, with Rev. Roger C. Stinson as pastor, will hold services at 7:30 p.m. tonight. Rev. David Miller, student pastor at University of Illinois will deliver the main address.

East Stroudsburg Methodist Church will conduct its all-night chain of prayer beginning at 6 p.m. tonight. The prayer will continue until 6 a.m. Thursday. Church members will participate in the prayer with a new person making the delivery every 20 minutes.

St. John's Lutheran Church, Stroudsburg will also hold Lenten services beginning at 7:45 p.m. Dr. Peter Wolsten will preside.

First Presbyterian Church, Stroudsburg, with Rev. John A. Bollier as pastor will hold mid-week services at 7:15 tonight. The Sanctuary will remain open from 11 a.m. to 1 p.m. today and tomorrow for private prayer.

First Of Series
Also tonight will be the first of a series of Lenten vespers at the Grace Evangelical Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg. Rev. William F. Winder's theme will be "The Pattern of the Cross." It will begin at 7:30 p.m.

Christ Episcopal Church, Stroudsburg, will hold Ash Wednesday services at 7:30 and evening prayer at 8 p.m. Rev. Charles A. Park is pastor.

Moravian Church of Canadensis will hold Community Ash Wednesday service at Mountaintop Methodist Church tonight beginning at 7:30.

United Presbyterian Church of East Stroudsburg, with Rev. Frank W. Wingerter officiating, will hold Ash Wednesday Lenten services tonight at 7:30.

Lenten services are also to be held at the Zion United Church of Christ, Stroudsburg, at 7:30 this evening.

Mass will be celebrated at St. Matthew's Catholic Church, East Stroudsburg, at 7 and 8:35 a.m. this morning and at 8 a.m. at St. Luke's, Stroudsburg.

Distribution of Ashes will take place after the morning Masses and again at 4 and 7 p.m. at both churches.

Church Regrets Tests Decision
PHILADELPHIA (AP) — The Commission of the Churches of International Affairs, connected with the World Council of Churches, says it regrets the decision by the United States to resume testing of nuclear weapons in the atmosphere.

The commission, in a statement signed by the Rev. Dr. O. Frederick Noble, of Philadelphia, and Dr. Kenneth Grubb of London, said resumption of the atomic tests "will almost surely lead to further and similar action by the Soviets." He added:

"The armaments race is thus accelerated and the risk of war with catastrophic destruction enlarged."

Decision Delayed On Supermarkets
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Judge Benjamin Lencher of Allegheny County Court held under advisement Tuesday the appeal of three supermarket owners fined $100 each for violating state Sunday closing laws.

Counsel for Payday Market, Haines Supermarket and two Versharen stores attacked at a hearing Monday the constitutionality of the law prohibiting food stores with 10 or more employees from conducting business on Sunday.

Atty. William Eckert said it was unconstitutional because of "unlawful classification, discrimination and special privilege of immunity."

Judge Lencher reserved final decision until Martin Lubow, assistant district attorney of Allegheny County, files a brief.

Be A Good Neighbor

The General Hospital Expansion Program is offering the residents of the Poconos the biggest challenge in our community life. To raise $1,000,000 will require the best efforts of all of us.

The theme of the campaign itself has been established as "Be a Good Neighbor." It is indeed noteworthy that Arlington W. Williams, General Chairman, and other members of his top cabinet have all reported that volunteer workers are enlisting almost without exception.

This means obviously that the hospital is recognized as the heart of our community health.

We glory in the fact that our residents are civic minded to the extent that they will accept their responsibility not only as donors, but as volunteer workers. To be a Good Neighbor today means that you will accept if you are asked to serve the General Hospital as a volunteer.

Be a Good Neighbor.

A Day To Observe

The Mayors of Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg, Delaware Water Gap and Mount Pocono this week proclaimed Friday, March 9, as a World Day of Prayer in their respective municipalities. This is in line with a worldwide theme of designating one day each year as a time when the peoples of the whole world should lift up their hearts to their Creator.

The practice started in America in 1887, and has been carried on under the leadership of women's organizations. In Monroe County, it is sponsored by the United Church Women, and a service will be held at Grace Lutheran Church, East Stroudsburg, at 1:30 p.m. Services will be held elsewhere in the county also.

If ever there was a time in the history of mankind that prayer was needed to help combat the evils in the world, it is the present. This Friday, in union with others all over the earth, the people of Monroe County will center their worship around the same theme, pray the same prayers, and sing many of the same hymns in a strengthening spirit of oneness.

Whether you live in a small town or a big city, whether you are observing the World Day of Prayer for the first time or seeking ways to strengthen the repeated experience, make this Friday's experience one that will exude a newness of life to all the people with whom you are associated, and the whole world.

The power of combined prayer is the greatest force on earth.

Making Campaign Fodder

Judging from what has been taking place in Washington recently, things are going to be lively, in this campaign year, on the congressional investigative front. Whether the results in terms of public benefit will be worth all the effort is a question that remains to be answered by the investigations.

In 1961, an off-year politically speaking, congressional inquiries were financed to the tune of about $9.5 million. Five million more than that already has been authorized this year and this is not the end. Without succumbing wholly to cynicism, one can note that investigations produce the fodder for a lot of campaign oratory.

The range of inquiry is enormously wide. Missile base efficiency, water pollution, commodity prices, public and private housing programs, strategic materials, stockpiling, deposit insurance, trade with Communist countries, highway scandals — these and dozens of other topics will be scrutinized by various committees in House and Senate.

Taxpayers might consider this all to the good if the investigations were carefully organized to avoid duplication and were carried out with the idea of possible legislation firmly in mind. The trouble is that there is duplication, with Senate and House committees both considering the subject in many cases. And a further trouble is that many a committee wanders noticeably from the concept of probing for the purpose of recommending corrective legislation.

Both ideally and practically, investigation is essential to the conduct of congressional business. But in an election year the citizen, as both taxpayer and voter, may be forgiven a small grimace of disapproval as he contemplates what lies ahead of Congress.

Goldberg's Remedy

Secretary of Labor Arthur J. Goldberg comes out of labor and has had a vast experience with Secretary of Labor, one of his tasks is to avert work stoppages, particularly at this time when the government is directly or indirectly the largest employer of labor in relation to the defense.

There are several approaches to the problem of employer-management relationships. These may roughly be stated as follows:

1. Permitting the law of supply and demand to apply to the utilization of labor which would mean the free disposal of the time of the worker as the needs of management appear;

2. Collective bargaining between a more or less powerful management with a more or less powerful labor bureaucracy — the tendency being that both bureaucracies, management and labor tend "together" to keep the shop going, as long as a selling price can be maintained;

3. Arbitration, either by professional arbitrators or by agreed upon groups;

4. Mediation, in which the government appears as a third party, representing the public;

5. Strikes for political reasons as for instance the "sit-down" strikes for organizational purposes.

All these relationships are tried from time to time in this country and none has succeeded altogether. The largest part of the work force remains outside the unions; the unions in some industries are more powerful than management which may, at times, and under special circumstances, even become dependent upon them, as, for instance, when management borrows from unions to keep going or when the unions use surplus funds to buy into industry.

Government mediation is constant either through the National Labor Relations Board or similar federal and state agencies. As a matter of fact, big labor grew protected by federal mediation (it has been called interference and worse names by management) just as big business grew protected by the tariff and other acts of Congress.

There is then really nothing new or startling in Secretary Goldberg's proposal concerning mediation, except that he states his program as one of national policy, proposing to use it not as the Wagner Act was used to protect unions but as a medium for the protection of the interests of the American government and people.

In a word, he seats the government at collective bargaining tables as a third interested party. The fiction has been, up to now, that the government is disinterested, impartial, unbiased even when a strike occurs at Cape Canaveral.

For instance, in a speech at the Executive's Club in Chicago,

Secretary Goldberg said:

"It is a universally shared and obvious truth that we cannot this year afford a repetition of the 1959 steel strike."

Actually, we could not afford such a strike in 1959 either. There are strikes which only affect the strikers and the particular industries involved. There are other industries in which the national interest is the dominant factor and in which a strike may so imperil the nation as to be equal to a defeat in a battle, or bring on a destructive inflation of the currency.

It is the latter type of labor-management fracas that Secretary Goldberg was obviously discussing, in which the public interest becomes a party at issue.

But when unemployment is still our leading social problem, is it possible to say that the public interest is not always involved? Do we have to wait until unemployment becomes acute to attempt to solve our problems by the artifices of the New Deal, which almost destroyed free endeavors in this country? May we not employ foresight, at least to the degree that we stave off acute unemployment?

Fault-finding with either management or labor does not serve much purpose at this moment. We are caught in a vise of prolonged international and domestic errors which cannot be corrected short of war, but can be accommodated by various devices until a new plateau is reached. The fear of most of the opponents to a positive government policy in too many aspects of our lives is that such a process could ultimately lead to fascism or to some other form of socialism. The danger is real.

However, those who fear the consequences of concentrated government power cannot advocate anarchy without bringing on the danger that is feared. As I read Secretary Goldberg's effort that task he has set himself is to avert that danger.

May Its Shadow Never Grow Less!

The Pennsylvania Story

'Rigged Primary' Again This Year

By Mason Denison

Harrisburg — Pennsylvania once again is destined to enjoy the distinction of countenancing a "rigged primary" this year.

Events of the past several weeks in both major parties point this out only too clearly. In a way it is a paradox — a somewhat tragic paradox at that — inasmuch as the Keystone State generally has been considered the "home" of the primary election principle.

A rigged television show with (comparatively) piousness stakes draws anguished wails and cries of reform; a rigged primary affecting far more people and with fantastically higher stakes becomes a pass-off.

What constitutes a rigged primary? Compare it with the notorious rigged television guessing shows of the recent past and the answer is immediately forthcoming.

Under the rigged primary system — as being played to the hilt in this year's gubernatorial-senatorial elections in the Keystone State — the players well know in advance just who is to emerge the "victor" in the guessing game.

(After all — if there is only one candidate, how can there be any doubts?)

And this in effect is what the Democratic and Republican primaries are boiling down to insofar as May 15 is concerned.

Primaries were designed of course originally in terms of "true democratic principles" — the arena where "anyone" had the opportunity to run for office within the party, with at least a sporting chance of emerging a winner.

There is not relation between the primary as originally conceived and the ratrace to which Pennsylvanians are being subjected today.

A look at the record of both parties on this score amply illustrates the point.

The so-called "leaders" of both political entities have assumed unto themselves the right to select the candidate (singular) who shall "represent" the party, or to carry it one step farther, represent the very members themselves of that particular party faith!

Of course the thing is still "open" — anyone else "may" run — but under contemporary standards, who today has the fortitude or the money to do serious battle against party organization odds?

Thus again, the entire show resolves itself into a strictly rigged affair — a rigged primary. We know for example, of at least half a dozen stalwarts in each camp who would have been willing to run for the gubernatorial nomination — but as leadership direction projected itself, every one to a man washed his hands of the affair with the resigned (literal) comment:

"We just can't make it without leadership approval."

The rigged primary invariably produces another sorry by-product. The candidate selected by the party powers-that-be too often is not the best candidate from the standpoint of office capabilities; the prime requisites being (a) can he be counted on as a good party-line man after he gets into office, and (b) does he have top-flight campaign qualities.

These are the facets Pennsylvanians are facing in both parties as the upcoming May primary looms closer and closer. If they intend to countenance a rigged primary there is little point in voting!

Perhaps "political buckaroos" this year would stand a better chance than ever — or will the smoke-filled rooms still hold iron-fisted sway?

Washington — House Speaker John McCormack is quietly working out the domestic legislative miracle of the year.

He is guiding congressional and administration officials to an agreement on a modified version of the President's long-stalled medical care plan for the aged that a majority of the House Ways and Means Committee members will support.

Already, the negotiators are agreed on all details of a compromise bill except a "freedom of choice" provision being proposed by Representative Wilbur Mills, D. Ark., chairman.

This provision would give persons over 65 the choice of receiving health benefits directly from the government under the Social Security program or receiving cash payments to be applied to premium payments for private plans.

Under the President's original proposal to Congress, all hospital care for the aged would be provided under the Social Security system. There are no provisions for coverage under private insurance plans.

The Administration's acceptance of the "freedom of choice" provision is being delayed by

The Allen-Scott Report

Compromise To Free Medical Care Plan

the insistence of a small group of presidential advisers that Representative Mills, its author, be required to support the entire compromise bill in his committee and on the House floor.

Mills, a foe of the Social Security approach, is unwilling to do this. However, the powerful Arkansas Democrat has assured the White House that he will not lead a fight either in his committee or on the House floor against the scaled-down version.

Lucky Thirteen — President

Kennedy's acceptance of this compromise is expected in the near future.

In recent White House meetings, the President told his legislative leaders that he didn't see why he couldn't accept Mill's position, but before any final decision was made he wanted to talk the matter over personally with his advisers and the chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee.

The President's candid statement came after Speaker McCormack explained that his acceptance of the Mills amendment would make it possible to pry the medical care plan from its legislative prison.

"At least 13 members, or a majority of the committee, will support the compromise bill if it contains the change proposed by Chairman Mills," McCormack predicted.

Eleven of the 25-member committee are for the medical care bill, according to the speaker's count. A maximum 10 members are unalterably opposed to all bills involving the Social Security approach. There are four fence-sitters, two of whom will support the compromise if it contains the "freedom of choice" amendment.

In previous White House meetings, the President agreed to three changes, none of which will radically change his plan to put the program under Social Security.

One of the most important of these changes involves the financing of the program and its bookkeeping procedures. The accepted change calls for the establishment of a special account in the Social Security trust fund from which the medical benefits would be paid out.

This fund would be financed by a tax of one-half of one percent on the first $5,200 of an individual's earnings — one-quarter percent by the employee and one-quarter by the employer, or the full one-half percent by a self-employed person.

Under the President's original proposal, medical care benefits would have been paid out of the regular Social Security trust fund from which retired persons now receive their pension payments.

Prospects Improving — Once final agreement is reached on the compromise plan, Speaker McCormack believes he can slip the bill through the House Rules Committee by a narrow eight to seven vote.

"We will have no trouble passing the medical care bill once we get it to the House floor," the speaker told a smiling President.

McCormack announced that Mills has given assurances that his committee will take up the medical care bill as soon as it has disposed of the President's request for broad tariff-cutting powers — possibly around mid-May.

The legislation faces a tough battle in the Senate, according to Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield, D. Mont. He cautioned the President, "We have about a 50-50 chance of passing your program in the Senate. We are better off now than in 1960 when a similar bill lost 44 to 51."

The President, jabbing his finger for emphasis, replied: "There is one thing I believe we should all agree on. None of us should make any pessimistic public statements about the chances of this legislation. The prospects of getting the bill through both houses this year are good, and we should talk that way."

Later, on leaving the White House, Senator Mansfield, who earlier had made a gloomy statement on the President's medical care bill, announced to the press in a very optimistic tone that there is a very good chance Congress will approve it this year.

Looking Forward — Two senators up for re-election this year are planning to switch their position and come out for medical care under Social Security. Senators Prescott Bush, R. Conn., and George Smathers, D. Fla., will soon make public announcements of their support for a modified version of the President's medical care plan for the aged. Representative Walter Norblad, R. Ore., is telling fellow Republican members that he plans to support medical care under Social Security. Also, he is privately forecasting that one-third of all Republican members in the House will do the same. GOP Minority Leader Charles Halleck, R. Ind., says he will wage an all-out battle against the President's proposal. "I plan to make it the fight of my career," he told one GOP member.

Just Between Us —

—By Bobby Westbrook

Drop in when you fly by, why don't you? In yesterday's March wind, anybody with a good stout umbrella had a chance to beat the record set by the B 58 jet — one way, anyway. It never seems as windy in town where bare branches and swinging signs merely sway. At home the spruces and pines and cedars go crazy, clanging at the house and practically doing the twist in their efforts to be airborne.

Must have been a high wind at the office the night before, too — since it blew one little Brownie's name right off the caption under the Girl Scout's picture. If you haven't thrown away the paper, the blond with the curly hair on the end is Elana Davis, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Davis of Minisink Hills. She belongs in an International Friendship picture since she was born in Belgium while her father was in diplomatic service.

One of the things that made yesterday's weather tolerable was the news of the real snow they were getting all around us. Maybe it was just going too fast as it barreled through the mountains.

Spring came early to the AAUW tea table in the centerpiece which not only was wired for light but also sound with a miniature fountain in the midst of the daffodils tinkling away. If you imagined in the midst of the chatter you heard the roar of a distant falls, it might have been the little motor that ran the fountain.

What most of us need right now is a little motor to keep us running after we come into the warmth after the battle with the cold and the wind. The tendency is to huddle in a hibernating ball.

To quote a more Pollyannaish friend: "There's one good thing about March — it comes after January and February, not before." Two weeks from today will be Spring.

Man Concocts Stew Which Pleases Other Men, Too

By Cecily Brownstone
Associated Press Food Editor

A man concocts a stew and friends beg for the recipe. So in businesslike style, this amateur cook hands out mimeographed copies of his rule.

The originator of this stew enjoys entertaining. This recipe serves about a dozen, and he often doubles the quantities to serve 24. But he does use one shortcut—frozen vegetables, all ready to add to the bubbling kettle.

Should a woman try this rule, she may wonder why the packages of mixed frozen vegetables called for are cooked longer than usual. Our chef answers briefly, and to the point: "Most men like their vegetables soaked up with gravy."

Should any woman have the urge to change this rule, we strongly advise her to resist temptation and hand the directions to a man—who might just follow them. We tried the original recipe and a tampered-with version. Take it from us, a la Chasins is most savory.

Beef Stew A La Chasin
"Purchase a single piece of meat; ask the butcher for a good cut of beef to make a stew—from 4 to 5 pounds.

"Cut meat in to 1½ inch cubes; roll in seasoned bread crumbs—these come packaged and are effective.

"Brown meat on all sides in a frying pan. Any kind of oil may be used, although I tend to use corn oil. This is not deep fat frying, so use just enough oil to prevent sticking. When you have browned the meat, put it in a heavy kettle, and leave the drippings.

"Dice 3 or 4 medium-sized onions as fine as you can.

"Dice 3 or 4 celery stalks with their tops as small as you can.

"Dice 1 large carrot and 4 or 5 cloves of garlic.

A MATTER OF FAITH — that's what's involved in forcing forsythia. Dean Ruth Jones at the college got a lot of free advice on how to make her vase of "sticks" on the radiator bloom in time for the tea table at the AAUW meeting, but she let time, heat and nature take its course—

Educational Television Vast Breakthrough, AAUW Hears Prophecy By Powers

Television offers a break-through in education as dramatic as Glenn's orbital flight, Dr. Eugene Powers told members of the American Assn. of University Women at their meeting on Monday night at the Stroud Community house.

"Within ten years teaching will be so different that those who do not keep up with new trends won't recognize it," he predicted.

Among the things he envisioned was closed circuit television in the schools, permitting all teachers to watch a good teacher teach and the development of team teaching, programmed learning and increasing use of mass media.

Dr. Powers, head of the education department at East Stroudsburg State College, has been president of the Audio-Visual Teacher Education Assn. and served on the board of directors of the Delaware Valley Educational Television Committee.

"I have no patience with the academic snobbery of people who say 'I don't watch television,'" he said, pointing out that it was a force to be reckoned with. The average family spends ten times as much time in front of the television set and eleven times as with books, surveys show.

Among the advantages of television, he listed its immediacy. Election coverage gave a sense of national participation, for instance, and Glenn's flight lifted the morale of the whole nation, he said. The past is made vivid through such presentations as "The War Years."

Among the disadvantages, he listed the fact that words once spoken cannot be taken back, that different people see different things in the same picture, and primarily its cost. The cheapest television station costs about $250,000 a year, he said.

However, where educational closed-circuit television has been used in schools amazing things have been accomplished, he said. It can be so arranged that a student can cut in to ask a question during a lecture as readily as in a classroom.

One of its primary savings is that of talent, he pointed out. To draw on the special talents of individual teachers in special fields makes the best use of that talent. At Millersville for instance, closed circuit television gave students 3,000 hours of observation of classroom teachers at work.

At the business meeting, the nominating committee reported the result of balloting:

Mrs. Kiefer President
Mrs. M. R. Kiefer was re-elected president Mrs. Eugene Martin, first vice president; Dr. Laura Evans, treasurer, and Miss Ruth Black, corresponding secretary.

The branch also voted to present two $100 scholarships this year to a senior girl at Stroud Union and at Pleasant Valley planning to attend a four-year college working for a degree.

Mrs. Lee Koehler, legislative chairman, presented the opening study of legislative proposals before the National A. A. U. W. for branch reactions. The proposals will be voted upon in May.

Legislative Proposals
Mrs. David Mazer presented the educational proposals which advocated mandatory kindergarten, establishing educational standards for nursery schools, and increased Federal aid for education.

Dr. Ruth Kistler presented proposals in the field of higher education advocating support of education beyond high school; increasing the supply of college faculty members by interesting college women to return for advanced degrees, and increasing aid for college education through student loans or grants to colleges.

Mrs. J. L. Cohen in presenting the proposals for status of women pointed out there had been few changes, with emphasis directed at encouraging women to serve on boards and agencies, more lenient tax exemption for working women for home care, and equal pay for equal work.

Book Fair Chairmen
Mrs. Kiefer announced that Mrs. Elton Denning and Mrs. W. H. Caulfield will serve as chairmen of the annual book fair, reminding members to save books which may be left with Mrs. J. L. Cohen in Stroudsburg, or Mrs. Evan Reese in East Stroudsburg.

Refreshments were served from a tea table decorated with daffodils in a fountain centerpiece, forsythia in flower carts and Spring dolls, made by Irene Mitchell. Dean Ruth Jones was chairman of the hospitality committee assisted by Ardeth Houser, Mary Pickard and Miss Mitchell. Mrs. Kiefer and Mrs. Cohen poured.

However, Dean Jones did have enough forsythia in bloom to fill the fountain centerpiece. Flower cards and garden party dolls are the work of Miss Mitchell. (Photo By Alice Hastings)

Red Cross Blood Program Speeds Help To India

An urgent request from India to the U. S. government last fall was transmitted to the American National Red Cross and then by its Blood Program to the Red Cross regional blood center in Lansing, Mich.

It was a plea for 20 units of anti-hemophilic globulin used to treat hemophiliacs — "bleeders" — and produced in the Michigan Health Department laboratories by contract with the Red Cross.

Lansing chapter workers rushed a carton of the precious fluid to a fast plane at Willow Run Airport, Detroit, and 24 hours later the globulin was in New Delhi to be administered to a patient there.

All the way across the world, another life prolonged could be credited to the American people who support the Red Cross and its Blood Program!

One of the things this rabbit says is, "I'm thirsty." Was a time Mommy and Daddy had only Junior's thirst to cope with come bedtime-and-after. Now they must also cater to the demands of talking dolls and animals. Things do get involved, don't they... and we call it Progress!

I have received several telephone calls from friends and readers asking me if I saw the letter from Helen Bernroth in the "Dear Mr. Editor" column of Saturday's Daily Record. The first to telephone was my Mother, and my reaction was, "My goodness... what did I write that displeased someone?" It was a joy to know Mrs. Bernroth's letter was not a complaint but a compliment.

I thank her most sincerely for writing, for it is always a pleasure to learn that someone feels exactly as you do about something important, and that something you have written has actually been read. Should she see this column, I extend my thanks, and also urge her to continue in her dream of someday residing in the Poconos. We have a beautiful county filled with wonderful, friendly people, and it's exciting to see we keep attracting more of the same!

There certainly is no reason why any woman should complain that hosiery is an expensive item and that she never seems to have a supply on hand... for here at Wyckoff's we just ended a sale of our ever-popular Berkshires and have embarked upon an equally splendid sale of our famous Burlington Support Stockings and Burnell Cameos.

I have never worn support stockings, but some of my friends tell me I'd be wise to do so... that whether or not one feels the need of them, they do a great deal to "take the load off the feet" of women who are on their much of the day. Not only that, say my friends, you just can't tell they are support hosiery, they are so sheer and smooth.

My argument against support hosiery has always been its cost... it is, regularly, 4.95 a pair. THEIR argument is that these same stockings will wear SIX times longer than ordinary sheers. And right now, of course, they are only 3.79 a pair or 7.50 for two pairs.

On the regular Cameo stockings the saving during this annual sale is a neat 20%. Cameos regularly 1.50 are now 1.20 a pair, three pairs for 3.50; those regularly 1.35 are 1.08, three pairs, 3.15; and the 1.15 hosiery is now 92c or 2.65 a box. I like the Cameos with the Dub-1 life top... their stretching powers are amazing, and if one vital thread is snagged nothing much'll happen because another thread is still there, holding on for dear life!

When our Berkshires were on sale, I invested in a bonus box of four pairs... now I'm investing in a box of Cameos. I'm playing no favorites... we carry several brands that are excellent, and they all look smart and give good service. But on my budget thrift is important, and why should I pay a regular price when I can stock up at sale price? That wouldn't make sense.

I also invested in two very lovely long-line bras from famous manufacturers, being offered in our corset department for 2.99 each... beautiful bras, one of embroidered cotton, and one of lycra lavish with lace, regularly 5.95 and 6.95. Short bras from the same company, regularly 3.95, are 1.99. Hosiery and undergarments are absolute necessities and can run into money if one doesn't keep an eye out for specials... so I do. How about you?

Cardinals Open PIAA Playoff Action Tonight In Bethlehem

Pocono Gets Quick Shot To See How Far It Can Go

By Curt Frins
Sports Editor

IT WON'T take Pocono Mountain High School long to find out what its chances are for a good showing in the PIAA Class B basketball playoffs.

The Cardinals play Fountain-Hill tonight at Bethlehem's Liberty High School in the semifinals of the District 11 battle. Both schools drew byes in the quarter-final round.

The Hillers have one of the stronger B teams in the state and a Cardinal victory tonight, would indicate that Pocono could go a long way toward a state championship.

A snow storm caused the cancellation of last night's Class A playoff game between Catawissa and Lansford but there should be little trouble with the weather tonight.

The Catty game will hurt the gate for Pocono-Fountainhill, slightly but a near capacity crowd is still expected.

Still On Sale

Pocono athletic director Joe Murray said that the school had sold about 300 tickets but he will not collect the ticket money from area business establishments that are selling tickets until this afternoon.

Tickets are being sold at Lin's Sporting Goods and Stroud Union High School in Stroudsburg; Lloyd's Sporting Goods and East Stroudsburg

High in East Stroudsburg; Pocono Sports Shop, Cresco; Harry Janson's Barber Shop, Tannersville; Brock's Drug Store, Mt. Pocono; Gerrity's Store, Tobyhanna and Lewis' Store, Pocono Pines.

The advance sale ticket price is $1 but they will cost $1.25 at the gate.

The Liberty High gym is on Elizabeth St. two blocks off Center St.

No Pre-Ins

The game starts at 8. There will be no preliminary game.

Tonight's winner moves to Harrisburg's Farm Show Arena Saturday for the district finals. The opposition in that game will come from the winner of the Blue Mountain-Frankville game, played last night.

Pocono coach Harry Werkheiser sent his team through its final practice session yesterday afternoon. It was a short workout, devoted mainly to shooting and running a few drills.

Werkheiser still has not decided on a starting five. He has limited his starting list to six players but will not name the combination until tonight. The six are Norb and John Ryan, Ed Luck, A.J. Bittner, Ralph Dunlap and Peter Ask. Werkheiser explained that no matter which five start, the entire six will see a great deal of action.

Lead Club

The Ryans lead the club in rebounding and scoring, with Luck also among the leaders in both categories. Bittner and Dunlap do a good job in the back court, while Ask, who missed the first part of the season because of a hernia operation, is a top hand man.

Pocono compiled a 15-5 mark during the regular season. Its losses were to Southern Wayne, East Stroudsburg, Scranton Prep, Stroud Union and Jim Thorpe. The Cards reversed the Southern Wayne and East Stroudsburg losses. The Prep and Stroud Union defeats were on the road, Jim Thorpe edged the Cards by only two points.

Werkheiser feels that Fountain-Hill, which won the Southern Division title of the Lehigh-Northampton League, will be the toughest club Pocono has faced.

The Hillers, who had a 19-2 regular season mark, played many of their games against Class A schools.

May Be 1st Area Little League Pro

JIM GERARD, a former East Stroudsburg Little League, may be first graduate of Pocono Area Little League to sign a professional contract.

Gerard, who played with the Cramer Lumber Co. team in 1952, signed with the Kansas City Athletics last year for an undisclosed sum.

Gerard who lives in Sarasota, Fla. now, was signed by Charlie Gassaway, South-eastern scout for the A's. Gerard's mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. William Gerard, formerly owned the Holiday House resort at Echo Lake.

Gerard has been assigned to the Daytona Beach team of the Florida State (Class D) League.

The former East Stroudsburg, now 26 years old, played for Sarasota High School and Manatee Junior College, Sarasota, with Gerard at shortstop, won the 1957 Florida Class AA high school championship.

He also played in the Sarasota Babe Ruth League and saw action for the Sarasota American Legion team.

Gerard played the outfield in junior college and batted more than .300 for two years. He was one of the team's long ball hitters.

ROOKIE WORKS OUT AT THIRD BASE — Cliff Cook, rookie third baseman up from Indianapolis, is watched by Reds manager Fred Hutchinson as he works out at third base in Tampa, Fla., camp. Gene Freese, the regular third baseman, broke an ankle in drills and is expected to miss a large part of the season. Cook hit 32 homers and batted .311 at Indianapolis. (AP Wirephoto)

ESSC Has Trouble Finding Room For Bulky Grid Team

ONE OUT of about every six male students in the freshman, sophomore and junior years at East Stroudsburg State is out for Spring football practice.

The record number of candidates pleases coach Jack Gregory in every aspect but one — he doesn't know where to put all of them.

The snow covering on the school's football field has forced Gregory to work his squad indoors for all but one day, (a session on the tennis courts) and most of the drills have been held in tiny Wayne Gymnasium, the old physical education building.

The lack of outside work has forced Gregory to postpone the annual intra-squad game from this Saturday to March 24.

Gregory has not had a chance to do a great deal of player evaluation. He's saving his progress reports until there's more room for contact work. The squad has been doing some hitting, using gymnasium mats for cushions.

No Seniors

There are about 90 players out for the club and an average of 82 have been showing up for the daily sessions. There are only about 625 boys who could take part in football, since the present seniors will have graduated before the season opens.

Three more players should be added to the squad this week, including former Stroud Union High player, Jim Farry. Farry, Jeff Forsythe and Joe Mucka, were members of the Warrior wrestling team and missed the earlier drills. Even though there has been a lack of physical contact, the squad's attitude, according to Gregory is "tremendous."

Gregory is being assisted by his backfield coach Charlie Reese and several student aides are Warren Swartwood, Fred O'Connor, Jim Wilde, Ed Becker, Moe Barber and Ken Welgoss. All but Welgoss played for Gregory last year. Welgoss is an ex-professional baseball player and ineligible for intercollegiate athletics.

One of Gregory's biggest problems is finding back-up quarterbacks for Bill Lewis and Charlie Sierer.

There are three other quarterbacks, Doug Brickley, George Benedict and Dick Coates, but all are freshmen. Benedict played for Emmaus High School.

Cincy's Jay Finally Inks Contract For About $286Gs

TAMPA, Fla. (AP)—Spirits at Cincinnati's spring training camp rose Tuesday when the Reds' top pitcher, Joey Jay, ended his hold-out.

The 26-year-old right-hander who won 21 games in the Reds' surprising push to the National League pennant last year, signed for the 1962 season for an estimated $28,000—about $13,000 more than he was paid in '61.

Only Monday, the Reds were stunned by the severe ankle injury suffered by hard-hitting third baseman Gene Freese. In a slide into second base during an intra-squad game, Freese sustained a fracture, dislocation and torn ligaments. He probably will be sidelined three months.

Ends Wrangle

Jay's signing ended a wrangle with the front office that had the unusual development of the pitcher offering to buy his contract from the club so he could negotiate with other teams. He first bid $150,000, then upped his offer to $200,000, but was promptly rebuffed by General Manager Bill DeWitt both times. Jay apparently well-heeled with income from West Virginia oil field holdings.

The Reds made several offers to Jay, starting at the $30,000 level, while the pitcher reportedly started out by asking $32,000.

Jay said he was "satisfied with the contract and primed for another good season."

Hutchinson Breaks YMCA Senior Basketball Mark

FORMER Pen Argyl High School star Art Hutchinson broke the YMCA Senior League scoring record Monday night, with a 56 point performance.

Hutchinson's total game a week after Tobyhanna Signal Depot's Bernie Cabey had set a mark of 53 points. Cabey's total came during regulation play, while Hutchinson had his total in a four over-time game. In that game, Hutchinson's Eisenhower's Drugs defeated R & R Toy, 88-85.

In the second game of the night, Tobyhanna kept its unbeaten string intact with a 70-57 win over Lawson Automotive.

Hutchinson had his total on 23 field goals and 10 foul shots. Only two other Eisenhower players reached double figures.

Ralph Lapardo, who starred for Pius X last year led the winners with 28 points, while Matlock had 22.

Cabey was high for Tobyhanna with 20 points, while Ralph Davis added 18.

Lem Isom was tops for Lawson, collecting 22. Rick Carroll added 12.

Lose Three Votes

Buckeyes Not Unanimous But Still Hold 1st Spot

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Ohio State's stunning setback at Wisconsin cost the Buckeyes their unanimous hold on first place in the Associated Press college basketball poll but they still far outdistanced the opposition in the voting.

Forty of the 45 members of AP's nationwide panel put the Bucks first on their ballots, while three gave that honor to Mississippi State and the two others went for Cincinnati, Ohio State had been the unanimous selection for the lead for 11 straight weeks.

Ohio State picked up four seconds and one third for a point total of 444, based on ten for first, nine for second, etc. Cincinnati gained heavily in the voting for second and remained No. 2.

The next four teams also retained the spots they held in last week's poll, with Kansas State, Kentucky, Mississippi State and Bradley following the Bucks and the Bearcats.

Utah, champion of the Skyline Conference, made the biggest jump—going from tenth to seventh. Bowling Green dropped from seventh to eighth, Duke from eighth to ninth and Loyola of Chicago took tenth. Colorado, No. 9 last week, fell out of the ratings.

All voting was based on games through last Saturday. The final poll of the season is scheduled for next week.

Wisconsin belted Ohio State 86-67 in the surprise of the season, pinning the Big Ten champions with their first loss since they were toppled by Cincinnati in last year's national title game. The Bucks, now 22-1, finish up against Indiana this Saturday before heading into the NCAA tournament next week.

The ranks, with seasons records in parentheses:

Ohio State (22-1)	444
Cincinnati (24-2)	392
Kansas State (21-3)	323

Baseball Brass Says Youth Comes First

By JERRY LISKA

Associated Press Sports Writer PHOENIX, Ariz. (AP) — Top brass of the five major league baseball clubs training in Arizona agreed Tuesday, in a panel discussion, that emphasis has to be on youth in the big leagues.

Field Manager Mike Higgins of the Boston Red Sox summed it up before a "salute to baseball" gathering this way:

"The way expansion is thinning out talent, you have to raise your own."

Higgins appeared with General Managers Paul Richards of the Houston Colts and Gene Paul of the Cleveland Indians, Manager Alvin Dark of the San Francisco Giants and Head Coach Elvin Tappe of the Chicago Cubs.

Quick Moves

Tappe said the Cubs' unique coaching board was aimed at accelerating the development of major league players from the accepted average of five to seven years to three years.

"Our plan calls for traveling coaches from the major league level who can offer specialized help where needed in our farm system," said Tappe.

Richards, whose Houston club is composed of a handful of big league veterans and a flock of rookies, said he was "highly encouraged by our squad's spirit and morale — the fellows are working hard and improving."

As for the American League pennant race, Richards observed: "I don't think it is humanly possible for such Yankees as Ford, Maris, Arroyo and Mantle to repeat their feats of last season."

Rocky Wants To Control U.S. Boxing

SAN JOSE, Calif. (AP) — Former heavyweight boxing champ Rocky Marciano wants to be appointed federal boxing commissioner—if the government creates the post.

The undefeated champion, now customer relations man for an engineering company, told a reporter Tuesday boxing could be "going forward" two years after a commissioner was named.

Marciano, referring to declining attendance and fewer men in boxing today, said his first act as boxing czar would be to name a board of boxing composed of ex-champions.

Such a group would be a clearing house for suggestions and inside information on boxing's problems.

"Everyone agrees there should be uniform boxing regulations," said Marciano, explaining what a commissioner would do. "Lots of states all have different rules, some boxers can fight in some states and not in others and some recognize different champions."

"I think government subsidy of some sort would be a tremendous help. It's a tough way to earn a living for a beginner—there isn't too much activity around and they have to have other jobs."

Police Will Study Cage Refs' Tests

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP)—State police experts began processing Tuesday the results of lie detector tests taken by 20 Southwest Conference basketball referees after allegations of game fixing.

Abb Curtis, conference supervisor of officials, declined comment on what would be done with the results and the names of officials who voluntarily took the tests.

"It's all in the hands of the state and federal authorities now," Curtis said.

The matter first became known after a column in the New York Post said professional gamblers believed certain Southwest Conference referees were fixing games.

State Police Director Homer Garrison said first that the results would be turned over to the conference. He later said that "we will get together with officials of the Southwest Conference on what disposition will be taken of the tests."

The referees began taking the tests Sunday.

Streams To Close

HARRISBURG (AP)—The State fish Commission Tuesday ordered trout streams closed from mid-March 14 until 5 a. m., EST, April 14, to allow for stocking.

Streams and other waters affected by the order include any stocked with trout during 1961.

Dear Abby

The Psychology Of It!

Dear Abby: My husband tends bar in a cocktail lounge that hires only shapely waitresses who wear as little as the law allows. One girl started to work there last month and my husband came home and told me what a "Swell kid" she was. He couldn't stop talking about her. He met her husband and said they acted very much in love. Then he added that the husband reminded him of HIMSELF when he was about 30!

I told him that he really was coveting another man's wife, but took comfort in the fact that the woman HE wanted loved a man who resembled HIM! He said I was crazy and should quit reading Freud. In your opinion, was my husband mentally unfaithful to me? I am 32 and he is 36.

NO FOOL.

Dear No: Men are not jilted for their thoughts, nor should your husband be condemned by you. P.S. Freud would have been more interested in you than your husband.

Dear Abby: Since when do they pick bridesmaids according to weight? My daughter's friend is being married in June and she told my daughter if she lost 20 pounds by that time, she could be a bridesmaid. Otherwise, she could preside at the guest book. My daughter is a little overweight, but I don't think that should make any difference. She doesn't know what to do. She wants to be a bridesmaid, but what if she can't stay on her diet?

FAT GIRL'S mother

Dear Mother: The decision should be your daughter's. Perhaps her friend is trying to do your daughter a favor and give her an incentive to lose weight. If I were your daughter, I would accept the challenge—and win!

Dear Abby: What do you think of a mother who calls a relative to thank her for a Christmas gift she sent her daughter? She said her daughter was "too busy" to write thank-you notes and I should excuse her. Do you think this is a proper "thank you" from a 17-year-old girl?

DISGUSTED AUNT

Dear Disgusted: I do not. But don't blame the girl. Her mother obviously hasn't taught her better manners. And if you want to do a real service wise up the mother.

Confidential To Marie: Just because there's chrome on the dome doesn't mean there's no power under the hood. Many a man of 66 is still hitting on all cylinders.

Still worrying about the same old problem? Write to Abby for a personal reply. Enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

For Wednesday, March 7, 1962
March 14 to April 10 (Aries) — Slightly less stimulating than usual. Slow down to catch your breath, review where you are running. Plan get things organized. Vigorous, striking (not necessarily physical) activities.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus) — No better day for working up advantages, says the astrologer. Will to succeed, follow up with concrete program. You can accomplish great things. Gains may not show till later.

June 22 to July 22 (Gemini) — In between two well aspected days. Continue progress made and re-focus, zone up with further acquisitions. Authors, playwrights, sales people can make fresh headway.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio) — Mars urges your versatility forward. Interesting, propelling day. Could add a new property and twist that would not only slide with good sense. Record reactions for guidance.

November 24 to December 23 (Sagittarius) — Jupiter admonishes to be wary of over-extravagance and over-enthusiasm. Evaluate requirements, determine the essentials fully. Handle all with the faith that accomplishes.

December 24 to January 23 (Capricorn) — Like Venus, Saturn is in favorable position for a flexible period. Turn on your charm, display it if it comes appear, add to your agenda along lines that really count.

January 24 to February 23 (Aquarius) — Imitation can be sincere flattery. When others try to do as you and twist your efforts, be proud and keep giving better example. This is well ahead of competition and thrive on action.

February 24 to March 23 (Pisces) — No excuses if you don't produce forward momentum now. No one but you to blame if you let enthusiasm dull. You have the mental tools; all that need is inventive, faith, your humor.

YOU BOY! TODAY are alert, creative, intelligent. Possess winning diligence, brilliance in many ways. Can become anxious, exacting, even fussy. Curb this or your sensitivity will drive you too hard and you will see too many ills. Don't let affections become involved unwisely. Build self-confidence to carry you through rough spots. You are adaptable, learn readily, are patient where it counts. Avoid restlessness if it causes dissatisfaction. Build future carefully on your responsive nature and enthusiasm for your life. Earned relaxation a most pointless idleness leads astray fast. Birthday of Percy Hammond, dramatic writer, Madame Vestris, famed musician, ballet dancer, John Gladstone, English chemist.

Life Insurance Investment High

NEW YORK (AP)—The Institute of Life Insurance estimated yesterday that more than $4 of every $10 in new investments by member companies last year went for the purchase of stocks and bonds.

The institute estimated the figure at more than $10 million. Another $6.7 million of new money went into mortgages. Altogether the 1,465 member life insurance companies made new investments totaling nearly $25 million.

Total assets of the companies reached a new high of almost $126 billion at the end of the year, an increase of just over $7 billion for the year.

Bessoir Promoted To Captain

ROBERT M. Bessoir, commanding officer of Co. A, First Battle Group, 109th Infantry, Pennsylvania National Guard, East Stroudsburg, has been promoted to the rank of captain.

He entered the military service June 1955 after graduating from University of Scranton. He was a ROTC student in that school.

Capt. Bessoir has served at Ft. Dix, N.J.; Ft. Benning, Ga., and with the armed forces in Korea. He joined the 109th Infantry in Oct. 1958 with assignment as a platoon leader and was promoted to first lieutenant March 1957.

He is a teacher and basketball coach in South Scranton Catholic High School, and is married and the father of three children.

Deem Red Subs Greatest Threat

WASHINGTON (AP)—Top Navy leaders testified yesterday that Soviet missile-firing submarines are "our greatest potential threat," but their capabilities are limited now.

Both Secretary of the Navy Fred Korth and Adm. George W. Anderson, chief of naval operations, said they expect the Soviet submarine potential to increase in the next few years.

They testified before a Senate Appropriations subcommittee that they are satisfied with the $15,527,000 budget President Kennedy asked for the Navy for the fiscal year starting July 1.

Korth said the Soviet Union is increasing its seapower and adding to their arsenal of atomic-powered submarines.
